- The reproductions (delivered in a resolution of 72 dpi) will be used for strictly personal purposes or will be included in a study or thesis which will not be published. They will neither be published nor be made public in any other way, including on the Internet. Under no circumstances will they be handed on to third parties without the written authorisation of the CEGES/SOMA. The reproduction costs amount to 2,50 € per photograph. The administrative costs (3,75 € per order) and postage costs must be added to this sum.
- The reproductions will be published. All published reproductions must bear the mention "collections CEGES/SOMA – Brussels" followed by the reference of the image. The applicant is obliged to send a free copy of the publication (one per publication in each language that it is published) to CEGES/SOMA.
 1. If the CEGES/SOMA holds the copyright of the images, exceptions allowed, a 20 € fee for copyright and rights of the author must be added for each black and white picture to the reproduction, postage and administrative costs.
 2. If the CEGES/SOMA does not hold the copyright of the reproduction, and the entitled parties are known, the applicant will undertake the necessary steps to obtain permission for publication and submit written proof of this permission to the CEGES/SOMA. In this case, only the reproduction, postage and administrative costs will be charged by the CEGES/SOMA.
 3. If the CEGES/SOMA does not hold the copyright and the entitled parties are unknown, the CEGES/SOMA reserves the right to refuse a copy of the images.
 4. If the provenance of the pictures is completely unknown, the mention "rights reserved" will be joined to the image and the following sentence "The author of this publication has, in spite of all actions taken, not been able to trace the origin of some of the images. Should the rightful claimants recognise themselves in these photographs they can contact the publisher + contact information of the publisher" must be inserted in the beginning or the end of the publication. In this case, only the reproduction, postage and administrative costs will be charged by the CEGES/SOMA.
